RE: Proposal for a minor in Women's Studies
DATE: February 23, 1976

I support the introduction of the proposed minor. However, there are some basic library holdings that are necessary, and I'm sure you will want to add them. Our experience has shown that each new course added requires between $400-500 per year for the first few years it is introduced. Could a special allocation be obtained to cover this initial and some for continuing additions that will be needed. Currently new courses have taken away from a department's allocation, but as you know this is at a minimum for the current offerings.
