

A: Yes, particularly carpeting of the reading rooms, and, in 1978, another building addition for study areas, research offices and administrative space. Since this is likely to be the last space we can add, in the future we will have to use existing space more economically. Microfilm and microfiche and compact movable shelving are in our future.

Q: What is the most unusual feature of our Library?

A: I would have to say that it is our Criminal Justice Reference and Information Center, one of several specialized collections within the Library. This particular collection started as an adjunct to the criminal law research program under Frank Remington and Herman Goldstein. It has grown into one of the largest and complete collections of materials on police and the criminal justice system in the country.

Q: Any regrets about leaving?

A: I will miss all the people I've had the pleasure of working with over the years. Since 1941 the library has doubled its professional staff and added three full time civil service employees, and they are all excellent.

Q: What do you look forward to in your retirement?

A: Time to get back into the graphic arts. I am interested in all kinds of woodcuts, prints and the like.

FACULTY/ALUMNI NOTES

Prof. Gordon Baldwin has returned after leading a group of lawyers on a tour of west-central Russia. The group met with Soviet lawyers, judges and law teachers.

Prof. Ted Schneyer is back in Madison after a year in Chicago with the American Bar Foundation. Prof. Schneyer did research on the history of bar integration.

Prof. Joel Handler, Jackson Professor of Law, is returning after a year of teaching at Georgetown University Law Center.

Prof. Martha Fineman returns from a year at the Univ. of Texas School of Law.

Professors going on leave for the next school year or part of it include: Prof. Robert Gordon, to Stanford; Prof. Gary Milhollin, to Catholic University School of Law; and Prof. W. Larry Church, to American University School of Law; and Prof. Walter Raushen-bush, to the University of Arizona School of Law.

Joining our faculty for the year is Visiting Prof. Hendrik Hartog, Indiana University School of Law. Prof. Hartog will teach in the area of legal history.

Prof. John Kidwell is serving as secretary to the Wisconsin Supreme Court Committee charged with reviewing the operation of the State Bar.

Prof. Stuart Gullickson has been picked as President-elect of the Dane Co. Bar Association. He will take office in 1983.

Susan D. Mainzer ('81) has been named an associate editor for Mason Publishing Co. She will edit two new legal publications for Mason.

J. Frederic Ruf ('64) has been named president and chief operating officer at RBP Chemical Corporation. Ruf previously worked for Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust and for Marshall & Isley Bank. He has been on the RBP board of directors for the past ten years.

Donna Horoschak ('79) has been promoted to senior attorney by Wausau Insurance. She has worked in the national business insurance firm since graduation.

John W. Rowe ('70), previously with Isham, Lincoln & Beale, has been promoted from vice president to senior vice president with Conrail, the Consolidated Rail Corporation. Rowe was editor of the Law Review while in School here.

Douglas H. Soutar ('44) has been named senior vice president for industrial relations and personnel by Asarco.