Dear Zareh;

Thank you for sending to me the info you c

In March I teach a class of Engineering and Management people in UCLA. They are experienced responsible Engineering and other managers.

I've found that they would like more concrete information on the use of VE in R&D. I know R&D has many difinitions. But I'm coming to you to learn if you can send to me a couple of meaningful examples where the system has been used, with enough detail so it can be comm-unicated ^{to them} and used by them. I talk a "good line". But I dont have good experience in the area. Can you help?

Perhaps you could refer me to something good which has been published. I want to really be able to tell them some approaches that are used and that work.

Thanks a million.

Warmest Regards,

Larry
