Value Analysis Seminar Slated

A one-day seminar on value analysis and value engineering will be conducted by L. D. Miles, creator of the subject, Jan. 15 at 9 a.m. at Hotel Roanoke.

Miles, a consultant on the subject, is a former General Electric Co. employe. He has shown employers how value analysis can be used in identification and elimination of unnecessary cost. Reservations can be made with Lorah Fox, president of the sponsoring Western Virginia chapter, American Institute of Industrial Engineers, Roanoke.
