FEMINIST PERIODICALS
A CURRENT LISTING OF CONTENTS

Volume 35
Number 2
Spring 2015

University of Wisconsin System
Periodical literature is the cutting edge of women’s scholarship, feminist theory, and much of women’s culture. Feminist Periodicals: A Current Listing of Contents is published by the Office of the University of Wisconsin System Gender & Women’s Studies Librarian on a quarterly basis with the intent of increasing public awareness of feminist periodicals. It is our hope that Feminist Periodicals will serve several purposes: to keep the reader abreast of current topics in feminist literature; to increase readers’ familiarity with a wide spectrum of feminist periodicals; and to provide the requisite bibliographic information should a reader wish to subscribe to a journal or to obtain a particular article at her library or through interlibrary loan. (Users will need to be aware of the limitations of copyright law with regard to photocopying of copyrighted materials.)

Table of contents pages from current issues of major feminist journals are reproduced in each issue of Feminist Periodicals, followed by a comprehensive annotated listing of all journals we have selected. As publication schedules vary enormously, not every periodical will have table of contents pages reproduced in each issue of FP. The annotated listing provides the following information on each journal:

1. Year of first publication.
2. Frequency of publication.
3. Subscription prices (print only; for online prices, consult publisher).
4. Subscription address.
6. Editorial address (if different from subscription address).
8. OCLC, Inc. Control Number.
9. Selected publications in which the journal is indexed.
10. Selected fulltext products in which publication appears or vendor intermediaries who make the full text available.
11. Subject focus/statement of purpose of the journal.

Please note that in the actual text, only the numbers 1 to 11 are used to identify the different categories of information.
Our goal in Feminist Periodicals is to represent English-language periodicals from around the world that focus on gender, women's studies, or women's issues. Generally, we do not include mainstream newsstand magazines. We are also unable to include periodicals that lack a complete table of contents. We encourage feminist serials to build a full table of contents into their regular format to facilitate possible inclusion in FP and indexing elsewhere.

University of Wisconsin System users: To locate these periodicals within the UW System, do a UW System/Universal Borrowing search from your campus catalog (labeled variously "Other Libraries," "More Libraries," "Other Catalogs," "Other UW Catalogs," etc.) If information on actual holdings (volumes and issues) is not in the records retrieved, contact the Reference Department at the library of interest.

Suggestions for improvements of Feminist Periodicals are gratefully received. We would particularly appreciate assistance from readers in the UW System with our efforts to keep the holding information complete and up to date. Please let us know about new subscriptions, subscriptions we have overlooked, cancellations, or other pertinent information.

Feminist Periodicals: A Current Listing of Contents (ISSN 1941-725X) is published online, quarterly, by Karla J. Strand, UW System Gender & Women’s Studies Librarian, 430 Memorial Library, 728 State Street, Madison, WI 53706. Phone (608) 263-5754. Email: wiswsl@library.wisc.edu. Website: http://library.wisc.edu/gwslibrarian

Feminist Periodicals is available free of charge at http://womenst.library.wisc.edu/publications/feminist-periodicals.html. A subscription to the publications of the Office of the UW-System Gender & Women’s Studies Librarian includes our print publications Feminist Collections: A Quarterly of Women’s Studies Resources and New Books on Women, Gender, & Feminism along with email notification of each new issue of Feminist Periodicals. See subscription form here.

Back issues of Feminist Periodicals are archived online at http://digital.library.wisc.edu/1793/259.

5 Where the River Springs from the Mountains
Nadya King
Even though I no longer live there, I still feel called by the River and the Mountain. Every time I return, the ravens welcome me home, sweeping above me as I walk down the road toward those amazing, wonderful springs.

8 Ancient Mothers of Loch Lomond
Jude Lally
When I was a child, my dad would take us rambling around the hills where we lived up above Loch Lomond. Among the stones at the top of Carman Hill, I would sit, scrunching up my eyes: in my imagination all the cars disappeared and with a final blink, the streets and houses were rendered invisible as well.

13 Home is Where the Goddess is Terra West
Our home is magical, although I didn't realize it right away.
A hundred years old, perched high on a hill beside a venerable oak, she is a quirky old structure, with wooden floors that creak, skin-prickling secret closets, and a bathroom light that must be turned on from the hallway.

15 Fairyland in a Factory Town
A. Jean Linder
The landscape is the vessel through which She reveals Herself.
Through the land — through my sacred spaces in woods of Aunt’s home and the small, but lovingly-preserved Pittsburgh parks — I connect, and feel, and love Her.

18 A Night on the Tor
Klara Adalena
A mysterious light from within set the Tor aglow. The moon had set, and while clouds covered the western sky, the Pleiades shone softly over the sacred mound. I pulled the purple hood of my cloak back, took my priestess staff, and hand-in-hand Marjon and I stood on the ancient pilgrimage path, facing towards the summit. I said to Marjon: “I feel it is time.”
Sacred Lands (cont.)

22 A DESERT EPHANAY  D. Noel Knowler
Choosing my steps carefully, I follow the narrow, winding path across the mesa. The trail is strewn with dull pock-marked rocks the color of a waning sunset. Around me the low sagebrush bushes smudge the early morning air with their sacred perfume.

26 MESTRA: RECOVERING THE SACRED GROVE IN ORANGE COUNTY  Kaeti Gugui
Growing up in Orange County, California, my deepest feeling was an intense desire to escape. But life has a twisting way of bringing you back to yourself, and twice such turns of fate brought me back home.

29 EARTH ANGEL  Shekhina Margareta von Recklinghausen
Even from this distance, I can see the white veins of crystal that run through the cliff where the Devic spirit I have come to visit lives. My whole body feels the heightened energy as I walk towards the cliff.

30 MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE  Lisa Wersal
The message moved me deeply: I felt as if it had been sent from Yemanja, Goddess of the Ocean Herself. I have since spoken to various groups about my experience, sharing the message as well as the bottle itself.

Femininity, Fame, Faith, and Philosophy: Sophie Cottin’s 1806 Voyage to Italy

Marijn S. Kaplan

9

This essay examines the case of a lesser-known nineteenth-century female traveler: the French Romantic woman writer Sophie Cottin (1770-1807), who spent the last few months of 1806 traveling through Italy with a convalescing relative and writing letters home sharing her impressions. These letters have scholarly significance not only because they predate nineteenth-century French women’s travel narratives examined elsewhere, but also because they offer insight into various other “journeys” Cottin completed during the final year of her life: reconciling the domesticity ideals of Jean-Jacques Rousseau she espoused with her work as a novelist (femininity versus fame) as well as weighing the influence of religion and ideology in her life (faith versus philosophy).

Quininie, Quarrels and Silence: The Arguments in and about George Sand’s Roman à Thèse

Kate Bonin

George Sand’s thesis novel, Mademoiselle La Quininie (1863), proposed to solve what Sand termed the gravest problem confronting modern France: the undue influence of the Catholic Church and its supporters (the parti clérical) in Second Empire politics and social life. Quininie’s story of young lovers separated by their opposing religious beliefs articulates Sand’s prises de position on issues ranging from Church doctrine, the Italian Risorgimento and the contested legacy of Jean-Jacques Rousseau. The novel engages with, and even incorporates, works by other authors including Louis Veuillot, Octave Feuillet and Rousseau himself, framing Sand’s own opinions within a multi-voiced and highly partisan debate. This article considers Mademoiselle La Quininie within this quarrelsome context, while also emphasizing the role that debate itself plays within the development of Sand’s thought.

Femmes, humour et voix narratrice dans les romans graphiques de Marjane Satrapi

Martine Motard-Noar

32

Si Marjane Satrapi a inscrit ses propres ambivalences dans ses romans graphiques, Persepolis, Broderies et Poulet aux prunes, elle s’est aussi assurée de dégonfler tout réductionnisme facile, en particulier grâce à l’humour. Ce dernier présente des femmes et la voix auctoriale non seulement dans le dialogue et la langue utilisés mais aussi dans le graphisme, révélant un investissement émotionnel certain, en particulier, vis-à-vis du corps. Cet humour à la Sattrapi refuse toutes formes de normalisation et toutes certitudes dans un jeu de dissonances où la vérité est toujours ailleurs, si bien que ses textes s’imposent à nous comme bien plus qu’un simple témoignage dans le temps ou dans l’espace étroit d’un pays ou d’une civilisation, bien plus qu’une autobiographie ou que l’histoire d’un grand-oncle. Dans l’aventure du texte et du dessin, les lignes noires et blanches définissent aussi une esthétique de l’écart et de la proximité du masculin et du féminin et de l’identité en général.

Literary Borderlessness and Crossings: Marie Hélène Poitras’s Early Fictions

Michèle Schaal.................................................................................................................. 44

Marie Hélène Poitras, a contemporary author from Quebec, has published several works of fiction. Her versatility has enabled her to develop an original and thoroughly literary fiction. However, her narratives have not yet, to my knowledge, received any academic attention. My article aims at reviewing the significance, and particularity, of Poitras’s œuvre for contemporary francophone literature, especially as developed in her first two publications: Soudain le Minotaure and La Mort de Mignonnet. Thematically and aesthetically, her writing borrows from international literature, as well as artistic forms as diverse as popular music and visual art. Consequently, I argue that Poitras first two books build on borderlessness and/or boundary crossing. The first section will be devoted to Soudain le Minotaure and will explore how Poitras crosses cultural and aesthetic borders, particularly with her protagonists’ relationship with foreign cultures and her use of synesthesia. The second part will focus on La Mort de Mignonnet and its aesthetic borderlessness, especially through the use of intertextuality with fairy tales as well as fables and intermediality with popular music.

Médias et inégalités genrées sur fond d’affaire DSK

Florence Ramond Jorryn .............................................................................................................. 60

Certains ont décrit l’affaire DSK — affaire à la portée internationale — comme un moment clé pour la société française et surtout pour les femmes qui en font partie. Cet article se veut d’étudier la médiatisation de cette « affaire ». Quel a été le rôle des médias dans un contexte qui a mené à beaucoup d’abus de langage? Face au traitement de l’affaire, comment certaines féministes françaises et organisations féministes analysent-elles l’impact que cet événement a eu et continue d’avoir sur les femmes en France et sur la société française contemporaine?

Annie Ernaux Ph-Auto-Bio-Graphe

Michèle Bacholle-Bošković .......................................................................................................... 72
Cet article constitue le deuxième volet d'une étude sur l'entreprise ph-auto-bio-graphique énralienne où l'écrivaine ouvre, au moyen de photos visuelles, un espace autobiographique différent, usant de sa vie personnelle à des fins impersonnelles, collectives. J'examinerai le dialogue qui s'établit entre des photos tirées de son album familial et des extraits de son journal intime dans Écrire la vie (2011) et des extraits de ses livres dans Retour à Yvetot (2013). De ces dialogues se dégage une réflexion encore plus poussée sur le moi. Ces deux livres montrent un traitement à la fois différent et complexe du temps, Retour à Yvetot restant ancré dans le passé (mais un passé à la dimension mythique) alors que dans Écrire la vie Ernaux parvient à saisir d'un même mouvement le moi passé, présent et futur. En combinant les deux sources intimes que sont les photos et le journal, elle saisit en effet et le moi physique et le moi psychique et traduit simultanément la permanence et la mutabilité du moi.

Dans cet entretien Aminata Sow Fall parle de son œuvre et de sa carrière dans la promotion de la culture au Sénégal. Elle y traite des obstacles qu'elle a rencontrés dans la publication de ses premiers romans, ainsi que de la traduction et la réception de ses romans à l'étranger, du rôle de la tradition orale dans son œuvre et dans la culture contemporaine. L'entretien a eu lieu le 23 février 2012 au Centre International d'Études, de Recherche et de Réactivation sur la Littérature, les Arts, et la Culture à Saint-Louis, au Sénégal.

8. OCLC 71270510.
10. EBSCO (various products), Gale Group (various products), ProQuest (various products), Wilson (various products).
11. "Aspasia is an international peer-reviewed yearbook that brings out the best scholarship in the field of interdisciplinary women's and gender history focused on—and produced in—Central, Eastern, and Southeastern Europe. This region includes such countries as Albania, Belarus, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, the Czech Republic, Estonia, Greece, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Macedonia, Moldova, Montenegro, Poland, Romania, Russia, Serbia, Slovakia, Slovenia, Turkey, and Ukraine. In these countries the field of women’s and gender history has developed unevenly and has remained only marginally represented in the "international" canon. Through its contributions, Aspasia transforms "European women's history" into more than Western European women’s history, as is still often the case, and expands the comparative angle of research on women and gender to all parts of Europe."

8. OCLC 11830558.
10. Lexis-Nexis Academic Universe.
11. "Berkeley Journal of Gender, Law & Justice, a continuation of the Berkeley Women's Law Journal, is guided by an editorial policy which distinguishes us from other law reviews and feminist journals. Our mandate is to publish research, analysis, narrative, theory, and commentary that address the lives and struggles of underrepresented women. We believe that excellence in feminist legal scholarship requires critical examination of the intersection of gender with one or more other axes of subordination, including, but not limited to, race, class, sexual orientation, and disability. Therefore discussions that treat women as a monolithic group do not fall within our mandate. Because conditions of inequality are continually changing, our mandate is continually evolving."
COLUMBIA JOURNAL OF GENDER AND LAW
2. Irregular.
5. Editorial Collective.
6. [email: columbia.jgl.submissions@gmail.com]
7. ISSN 1062-6220.
8. OCLC 24786087.
9. Wilson's Index to Legal Periodicals.
11. "Columbia Journal of Gender and Law was founded to publish legal and interdisciplinary writings on feminism and gender issues and to expand feminist jurisprudence. Both national and international in focus, JGL is intended to serve as a forum for topics inadequately addressed in most law journals and reviews, including issues concerning women, children, family, sexuality, reproductive rights, and violence. The articles in JGL approach legal issues from a variety of disciplines. We aim to promote an expansive view of feminism embracing women and men of all colors, classes, sexual orientations, and cultures."

rapidly growing field by publishing essays, art exhibition and book reviews, bibliographies, and a forum on a current topic of interest to the study of early modern women. Essays may consider women and gender from any region of the globe and may develop a number of scholarly perspectives, including but not limited to art history, cultural studies, history, history of philosophy, history of science, literature, music, politics, religion, or theater. Approaches that challenge current assumptions and cross disciplinary boundaries are especially welcome."

10. Welcome.

"Eighteenth-Century Women, a hardcover serial publication from AMS Press, publishes articles and book reviews in the fields of literary, biographical, bibliographical, social, and cultural history. It focuses on women in Great Britain, Europe, the Americas, and the rest of the world during the "long" eighteenth century, extending roughly from the restoration of the English monarchy (1660) to the death of Jane Austen (1817). The Journal Aims to be a record of women's lives and accomplishments, not only as essayists, novelists, playwrights, poets, translators, pamphleteers, letter-writers, and journalists, but also as mothers, wives, daughters, queens, princesses, reformers, business owners, educators, socialites, ladies of the manor, ladies of the night, intellectuals, natural philosophers, travelers, theater managers, actresses, musicians, artists, artisans, consumers, arbiters of taste, and promoters of fads, fashions, and morals."

FEMINIST CRIMINOLOGY
1. 2006.
2. 4/year.
3. $151 (indiv.), $668 (inst.).
5. Jana L. Jasinski.
7. ISSN 1557-0851.
8. OCLC 61145011.
10. “Feminist Criminology is dedicated to research related to women, girls and crime within the feminist critique of criminology and focuses on research theory that highlights the gendered nature of crime. Research that uses sex as a control variable often fails to illuminate the factors that predict female criminality. Feminist Criminology provides a venue for articles that place women in the center of the research question, answering different questions than the mainstream approach of controlling for sex.”

11. “Gender and Language is the journal of the International Gender and Language Association (IGALA). It is an international forum for research on and debates about feminist research on gender and language. Gender is defined broadly, as a key element of social relationships often loosely linked to perceived differences between the sexes as well as a primary arena for articulating power in complex interaction with other dimensions of power, like class, race, and sexuality. It welcomes research employing and investigating a range of different linguistic approaches (including, but not only including, conversation analysis, critical discourse analysis, ethnography of communication, interfunctional sociolinguistics, linguistic anthropology, variationist sociolinguistics, stylistics and pragmatics) which focus on a range of different linguistic phenomena.”

11. “Hypatia is a forum for cutting edge work in feminist philosophy. Since its inception in 1986 as an independent journal, Hypatia has been both a catalyst for broadening and refining feminist philosophy, and an invaluable resource for those who teach in this area. Feminist philosophy arises out of diverse traditions and methods within philosophy, and is also richly interdisciplinary in orientation; we are committed to publishing articles that are broadly accessible. Hypatia serves as a resource for the wider women’s studies community, for philosophers generally, and for all those interested in philosophical issues raised by feminism.”

Research in these areas is of interest not only to academics, but also to employers and educators involved in these sectors. We welcome contributions from a variety of disciplines and interdisciplinary perspectives and drawing on a wide range of theoretical frameworks. Our aim is to help foster and provide a focus for constructive debate and interchange of ideas between key players and experts in this field—promoting the sharing of knowledge and new understandings. GST enables those outside of academic institutions to have access to research data and results to inform strategies, responses and progress. Academic researchers will benefit from access to case studies and reports developed by practitioners and policy makers.”

11. "The Journal of Feminist Scholarship is a peer-reviewed, open-access journal published online and aimed at promoting feminist scholarship across the disciplines, as well as expanding the reach and definitions of feminist research. We conceive the mission of the JFS as an exploration of the state of feminist scholarship at the turn of the new century, and we see this endeavor as part of a larger question of where feminism itself is heading. We wish to encourage a discussion of feminist thought for the twenty-first century, What is its direction today, and what relationship does it sustain with the foundations laid down by feminist inquiry and action of earlier centuries? We aim to publish work that explores the multiple theoretical paradigms and political agendas of contemporary and historical feminist scholarship and the potential intersections and tensions between these paradigms and agendas. We are especially interested in examining productive controversies and divergences between local and global contexts of feminism. We also welcome submissions that focus on feminist pedagogies and activism."

11. "Nora is a new interdisciplinary journal of women's studies, published in English and international in scope, which is to be a channel for women's research from all disciplines. Emphasis is placed on showing a Nordic profile in women's research, with regard to both content and methodological approaches. Nora aims to discuss and examine the realties and myths of women's lives in the Nordic countries, historically and today, while at the same time offering a forum for theoretical debate, dialogue and information on research of a general interest to feminist scholars and scientists. Nora encourages papers that have a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective and are theoretically self-reflective."

The aim of Reproductive Health Matters is “to promote laws, policies, research and services that meet women's reproductive health needs and support women's right to decide whether, when and how to have children. . . . [its] women-centered perspective. . . . allows us to identify and understand women's reproductive health needs, and therefore evaluate and improve on existing policy and practice to women's benefit. . . . To this end, the journal explores what is meant by women's needs and how these can best be met. It addresses fundamental values, concerns and dilemmas, acknowledging the multi-faceted nature of problems and solutions. Finally, it reflects on commonalities and differences in goals and points of view among those involved in the field — in order to foster increased communication and cooperation, new thinking and action, and new forms of consensus.”

10. “Studies in Gender and Sexuality is a response to the excitement attendant to recent research and writing by scholars and clinicians. It provides a forum for examining gender and sexuality that is both multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary. As clinicians and scholars who have written and practiced at the intersection of feminist theory and clinical psychoanalysis, the editors are especially interested in those areas of controversy that invite the divergent perspectives and insights of different disciplines. Early issues of SGS focus on transgender identities and intersexuality; contemporary readings of the category of perversion; puberty and adolescence revised and revisited; and the intersections among class, race, and gender in theory, culture, and the clinical situation. The primary goal of SGS is to promote dialogue on these and other timely topics among clinicians, researchers, and theorists. Consonant with this goal, the journal also publishes related work from the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, where questions involving gender and sexuality are currently in lively debate.”

7. 11. “TRIVIA, deriving from "tri-via" (crossroads), was one of the names of the Triple Goddess. Recognizing that what is of primary importance in women's lives tends to be relegated to the margins of patriarchal history and thought, dismissed as 'trivial,' we conceive TRIVIA: Voices of Feminism as a place at the crossroads where women's ideas can assume their original power and significance. We operate with (and within) an expansive definition of feminism, one that recognizes diversity of thought and practice across boundaries and borders of

The significance of visual culture for art education rests not so much in the object or image, but in the learning and teaching processes or practices used to expose culturally learned meanings and power relations that surround the creation, consumption, valuing, and dissemination of images. Similarly, the significance of gender for art education involves issues of equity and social justice in the learning, teaching, and practicing of art."

11. "Women’s Writing is an international journal focusing on women’s writing up to the end of the long Nineteenth Century. The Editors welcome theoretical and historical perspectives, and contributions that are concerned with gender, culture, race and class. The aim of the journal is to open up a forum for dialogue, discussion and debate about the work of women writers, and hopes to reflect the diversity of scholarship that can be brought to bear on this area of study."
