

A Survey And Analysis Of International Students' Living Experience

Students' name: Xiaofan He(Sandy), Tianyi Zhang(Allen), Shuaijie Zhang(John), Anastasiya Kulinich
Faculty Mentor: Ami Christensen | Department of Languages

University of Wisconsin
Eau Claire

INTRODUCTION

Housing is an important part in United States campus life, especially for international students. The choice of living on or off campus depends on each student's personal habits and hobbies, and the choice of where to live is based on their personal preference and finances.

For most international students, where they choose to live has a significant impact on their future studies and lives.

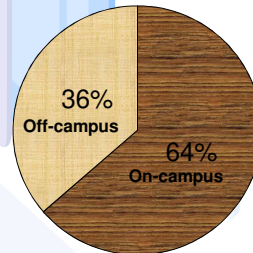

SURVEY AND RESULTS

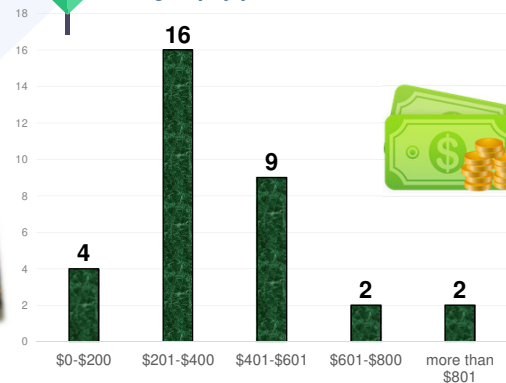

METHODS:

Our team created a survey with 21 questions about international students' experience with housing. We received over 30 responses with the following data:

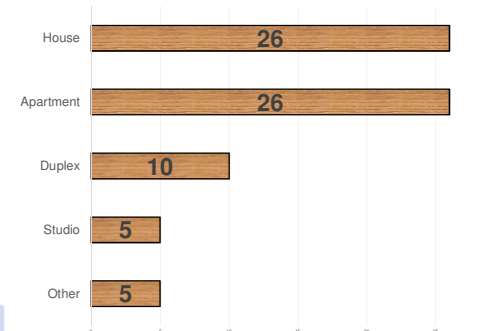

1. Where do international students live?

2. What price are international students willing to pay per month?

3. What places do international students choose to live in?

CONCLUSION

Based on data, many international students do not like to live on campus. However, they required to live in the dormitories and have no option to choose from.

SUGGESTION

We suggest that CIE provides students with more dorms to choose from or add more single rooms with the choice of how long international students prefer to live on-campus.

REFERENCE:

picture source from :
<https://www.uwec.edu/campus-life/housing-dining/housing/>